Bågvik

A rediscovered sportclimbing crag which is located by a bay close to Loftahammar. In the bay there's a small beach where you can take a swim. Moreover, the boulder area called Rövargrottan is close by. The area competes with the other with its quality and fun climbing. There is potential for developing new routes in the future.

Getting there

From Västervik drive on the E22 towards Loftahammar for 14 km and then turn left at the 'Bågvik' sign. Keep left and drive north west with the bay on your left side.

Turn left on the first road after about 2 km. Drive down to the bay and park. The crag is located down by the jetty to the right. It takes 50 min to get there from Västervik.

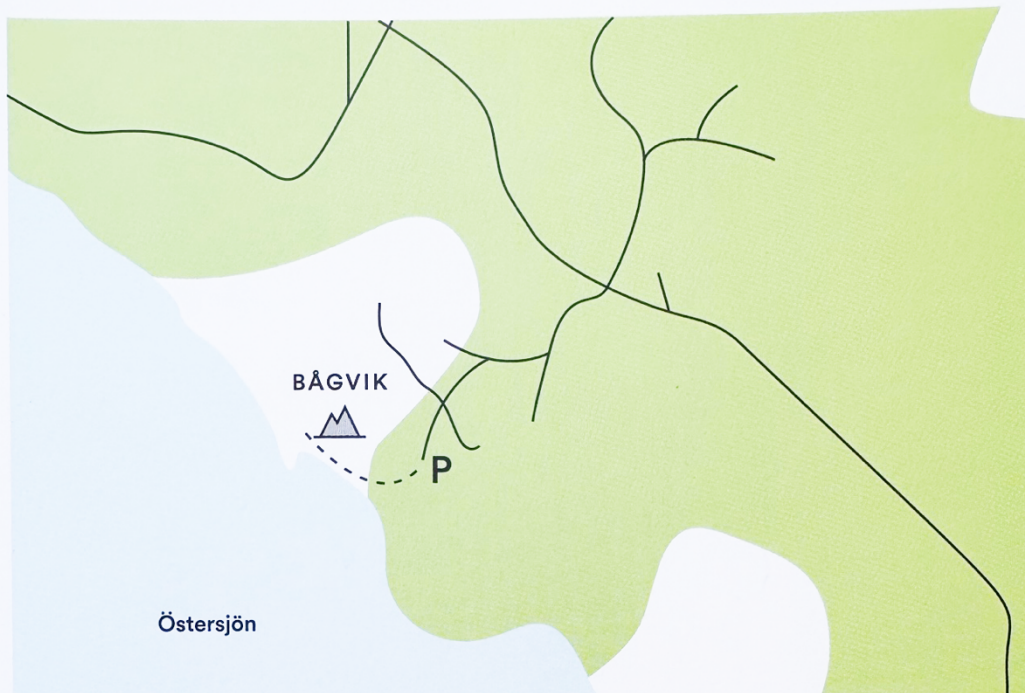

There are good opportunities to create new routes.
